The wine's character

Less well known than its red counterpart but every bit as compelling, this Fixin displays a pale gold hue—clear and bright. On the nose, it offers appealing floral and citrus notes. The attack is direct, the mid-palate rounded yet precise. This is a very enjoyable wine, defined by finesse and freshness.

Terroir, origin, and identity

The village of Fixin is naturally sheltered from the extremes of the Bourgogne climate. It enjoys a mesoclimate so favorable that even the oldest growers remember only one devastating hailstorm. The vineyard lies within the "En Crechelin" lieu-dit. The name combines two references to stone: "Crè" from crais (stony soil) and "chelin," a derivative of chaille (flint). The site sits on the alluvial cone at the mouth of the Fixin valley.
